

5.0 List of Preparers

Many people both inside and outside of the U.S. Fish and Wildlife Service contributed to the preparation of this Draft Environmental Impact Statement. In this chapter, the names of the individuals with primary responsibility for the document are listed along with their education and professional background.

This chapter also lists the many individuals from a myriad of organizations who have contributed their time and expertise.

William H. Hegge

Darby Creek Watershed Project Manager

U.S. Fish and Wildlife Service, Region 3, Ecological Services, Reynoldsburg, Ohio

M.S. Natural Resources- Wildlife Management, 1975, The Ohio State University, Columbus, Ohio.

B.S. Agriculture, 1973, The Ohio State University, Columbus, Ohio
United State Marine Corps, 1968-69.

Mr. Hegge has 24 years of experience in wildlife management and conservation planning. This has included work for state and local governments, and work for three Federal conservation agencies, including the Bureau of Land Management and Soil Conservation Service in Colorado and New Mexico. He has managed national wildlife refuges in Virginia, North Carolina, and New York, and served as Oil Spill Field Response Coordinator for the St. Lawrence River, Lake Ontario and eastern Lake Erie. He has authored wildlife management articles in New York and Virginia. Recently, he worked as a refuge program specialist in Washington, D.C., and since 1993 as a private lands biologist in Ohio. As Project Manager for the Little Darby National Wildlife Refuge proposal he was the principal researcher and writer for the Draft Environmental Assessment and the Draft Environmental Impact Statement. He contributed to the economic analysis and was intimately involved in the outreach effort.

Buddy B. Fazio

Fish and Wildlife Biologist (Endangered Species)

USFWS, Region 3, Ecological Services, Reynoldsburg, Ohio

B.S. Wildlife and Fisheries Biology, 1984 University of California at Davis

M.S. Natural Resources/Wildlife Management, 1993 Humboldt State University, Arcata, California.

Mr. Fazio has 23 years of combined seasonal, temporary and career experience in wildlife and fisheries biology. Formerly, he served as a wildlife biologist for the Pacific Gas and Electric Company and as a research biologist for the U.S. Forest Service in California. Since 1989 he has worked as a Fish and Wildlife Biologist (Endangered Species) for the Service's Division of Ecological Services which included population research on the Aleutian Canada goose for the Service's Alaska regional office. He was responsible for endangered species documentation and review.

Andrew Laughland

Economist (former)

U.S. Fish and Wildlife Service, Region 9

B.A. Ecology and Economics, 1976, Hampshire College, Amherst, Massachusetts
M.S. Business, 1984, Husson College, Bangor, Maine
Ph.D Agricultural Economics, 1994, Pennsylvania State University, State College, Pennsylvania

Before leaving the Service for another position, Mr. Laughland served as an economist with the USFWS Division of Economics. He has 23 years of experience evaluating the economic impacts of conservation proposals. His experience includes serving as lead budget analyst for economics and planning for the state of Maine. He has authored several articles on economic impacts, valuation techniques, and innovative policy options including the publication "Banking on Nature: The Economic Benefits to Local Communities of National Wildlife Visitation." He was responsible for preparing the economic analysis for the Draft Environmental Assessment.

James Caudill

Economist

U.S. Fish and Wildlife Service, Region 9

B.A. Geography, 1976, California State University, Dominguez Hills
M.A. Architecture and Urban Planning, 1979, University of California, Los Angeles
Ph. D. Agricultural Economics, 1993, Michigan State University

Mr. Caudill has more than 20 years of experience in the natural resources field. He has worked on marine resource issues with the Southern California Ocean Studies Consortium; he was Forest Economist with the U. S. Forest Service for the Wallowa-Whitman and Umatilla National Forests in eastern Oregon and has worked on fisheries and wildlife-related economic studies for the U. S. Fish and Wildlife Service since 1994. His publications include "Banking on Nature: The Economic Benefits to Local Communities of National Wildlife Visitation" and "1996 National and State Economic Impacts of Wildlife Watching." He assisted with the preparation of the economic assessment for the Draft Environmental Impact for the proposed Little Darby National Wildlife Refuge.

Thomas J. Larson

Chief, Ascertainment and Planning, Region 3

U.S. Fish and Wildlife Service, Ft. Snelling, Minnesota

M.S., Wildlife Ecology, 1974, University of Wisconsin-Madison

B.S., Wildlife Ecology, 1971, University of Wisconsin-Madison.

Mr. Larson's experience includes surveying wildlife in West Africa from 1974 to 1976 with the United States Peace Corps as part of a National Park development project.

He has 23 years of experience with the U.S. Fish and Wildlife Service in various positions ranging from refuge management to his current position as Chief of Planning. He has worked on national wildlife refuges, wetland management districts, and in the Twin Cities Regional Office. He has participated on a variety of national teams and committees dealing with nationwide resource-related issues. Mr. Larson's current position includes directing the Service's Midwest Region's comprehensive conservation planning on all refuges in the region as well as National Environmental Policy Act (NEPA) compliance for new refuges or expansion of existing refuges.

His role in the proposed Little Darby National Wildlife Refuge project included evaluating alternatives, reviewing and editing the Draft Environmental Impact Statement, compliance with NEPA, and actively participating in outreach efforts.

Jane Hodgins

Technical Writer/Editor

U.S. Fish and Wildlife Service, Ft. Snelling, Minnesota

B.A., Journalism, College of St. Thomas, St. Paul, Minnesota

Ms. Hodgins has 15 years of experience in the private sector as a reporter, news editor and as a technical writer and editor for an urban consulting firm. She has 1 year of experience with the U.S. Fish and Wildlife Service. Her responsibilities included editing the Draft Environmental Impact Statement, formatting the document and assisting with public outreach.

Claudia Dizon

Editorial Assistant

U.S. Fish and Wildlife Service, Ft. Snelling, Minnesota

B.A., Liberal Studies, California State Polytechnic University, Pomona.

Ms. Dizon has 23 years of experience in the private sector and four years of experience with the U.S. Fish and Wildlife Service. Her responsibilities related to the Draft Environmental Impact Statement included assisting with public outreach activities; updating and/or creating databases for mail lists, survey and information requests; compilation of the Public Comment appendices and proof-reading.

John Dobrovolny

Regional Historic Preservation Officer, Region 3

U.S. Fish and Wildlife Service, Ft. Snelling, Minnesota

B.A. History, Sacramento State College, California.

Mr. Dobrovolny has 12 years of experience as a historian and superintendent with the National Park Service and 16 years of experience as a historian with the USFWS. His responsibilities included reviewing and writing sections of the Draft Environmental Impact Statement relating to cultural resources and archaeology.

Sean Killen

Geographer

U.S. Fish and Wildlife Service, Ft. Snelling, Minnesota

B.S. Geography, University of Wisconsin at River Falls

Mr. Killen has 5 years of experience providing maps, animations and videos for the U.S. Bureau of Mines; 2 years of experience in the private sector preparing design visualization products and teaching a 3D computer animation course. He has 2 years of experience producing maps and visual aids for the USFWS. Mr. Killen's responsibilities included preparing maps for the Draft Environmental Impact Statement.

Megan M. Sullivan

Biological Science Aid

U.S. Fish and Wildlife Service, Reynoldsburg, Ohio

B.S., School of Natural Resources, The Ohio State University

As a Biological Science Aid for the Ecological Services office in Reynoldsburg, Ms. Sullivan was responsible for reviewing the Draft Environmental Assessment, database refinement, developing graphics, and assisting with public outreach related to the Draft Environmental Impact Statement.

Acknowledgments

The U.S. Fish and Wildlife Service wishes to especially acknowledge the advice and assistance provided by the members of the Technical Work Panel during the planning process for this proposal. While member views and opinions may have not always been in unison, they provided valuable insight into the importance of various issues. The following members attended at least one of the three meetings.

Mr. Sam Speck, Ohio Department of Natural Resources
Mr. William Moody, Ohio Department of Natural Resources
Mr. Peter Precario, Ohio Audubon Council
Mr. Tim Lawrence, Ohio State University Extension
Mr. David Dhume, Madison County Commissioner
Mr. Karl Gebhardt, formerly of the Ohio Department of Agriculture
Mr. John O'Meara, Columbus and Franklin County Metropolitan Park District
Ms. Teri Devlin, The Nature Conservancy
Mr. James Stewart, Madison Soil and Water Conservation District
Mr. Keith Brus, Pheasants Forever
Ms. Linda McGuire, Champaign Soil and Water Conservation District
Ms. Dorothy Teater, Franklin County Commissioner
Mr. Kevin Schmidt, American Farmland Trust
Mr. David Sheiderer, Operation Future Association
Mr. James Mitchell, Union County Commissioner
Dr. Michael Hogarth, Otterbein College
Dr. Lawrence Libby, Dept. Of Agricultural Economics, The Ohio State University
Dr. Alan Randall, Chair, Dept. Of Agricultural Economics, The Ohio State University
Dr. Thomas Watters, Ohio Biological Survey
Dr. Brian Armitage, Ohio Biological Survey
Mr. Larry Harmon, Ducks Unlimited, Inc.
Mr. Stephen Drumm, Union Soil and Water Conservation District
Mr. David Horn, Columbus Audubon Society
Ms. Christine Harmon, The Darby Creek Association
Mr. Paul Dumouchelle, The Darby Creek Association
Mr. Mike Funderburgh, Operation Future Association
Mr. John Armentano, Natural Resources Conservation Service
Mr. Mark DeBrock, Natural Resources Conservation Service
Mr. Robert Ames, City of Columbus
Ms. Denise King, The Nature Conservancy
Mr. Howard Wise, Ohio Department of Agriculture
Mr. Joel Hastings, Ohio Farm Bureau Federation
Mr. Chet Bowling, Facilitator, The Ohio State University Extension
Dr. Julie Hambrook, U.S. Geological Survey
Mr. John Tertuliani, U.S. Geological Survey
Mr. Jeff DeRoche, U.S. Geological Survey
Mr. Robert Corbett, Champaign County Commissioner

The U.S. Fish and Wildlife Service also acknowledges the assistance of Mr. James Williamson, Madison County Auditor, and Ms. Mary Snider, Union County Auditor, in providing technical information that aided in the preparation of the economic analysis. The Service appreciates the generosity extended by Dennis Anderson in allowing us to use his unpublished proprietary research on the